•Resume

I have been studying data science since early 2022, accumulating knowledge in various areas such as statistics (with an emphasis on its application for handling data), data analysis, and graphical representation (dashboards) using data visualization libraries. I also have experience in machine learning (regression, classification, and clustering) using advanced ML algorithms.

•Objective

I aim to secure my first professional experience as a data scientist. I believe I have built a solid foundation of knowledge, but I am fully committed to learning new tools and skills to advance my career. I'm thirsty for knowledge .
